

John Dunaway
Cook Compression

John Dunaway, PE is Global Sales Director for Cook Compression, and has 9 years of experience in the gas compression industry with roles in engineering and technical sales. His experience includes developing fugitive emission reduction strategies for OEM and end user customers. He is an experienced product trainer, having developed several technical training programs for reciprocating compressor operators.

Mr. Dunaway holds a BS and MEng in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Louisville. He also holds an MBA from the University of Louisville.